OCN provides a range of services to members as well as guidance and education for the wider community on achieving harmonious communal living.

Our network provides advice and support on strategies for navigating and resolving many of the common issues that can arise in strata apartment, villa and townhouse living.

We take a proactive role in advocating for owners by engaging with government and industry on critical topics such as consumer protection, strata governance and building defects.

Most importantly, OCN is fiercely independent and not aligned with any commercial interest.

What matters to you as a strata owner or resident is what matters most to us!
